Inside, we are surprised by the breadth of divisions. The entrance hall leads us to a spacious living and dining room with an open space-style kitchen, which opens onto the garden where we have a deck-built terrace, designed to provide moments of relaxation while enjoying the beautiful views of the countryside.

The large 3 bedrooms, all with built-in wardrobes, have heating and access to the surrounding terraces. There is still an office, which can be used as a 4th bedroom, although smaller. To complete, there are also two more common bathrooms and a large laundry/ storage area.

The villa has a central heating system channeled, air conditioning and wood burner.

The entire urban portion of the property, with 1.760 sq.m, is properly fenced, and its access is made by an automatic gate. Within these limits, we also find a workshop and a warehouse to support gardening.

To fully appreciate the panoramic view, the fresh air and the quiet of this property, as well as its full potential, it is strongly recommended a visit without any commitment. A big house for a big family.
